

Collingwood Collection: Sexual Harassment Policy

The Collingwood Collection has a zero-tolerance approach to sexual harassment and will take all complaints of this nature extremely seriously. The purpose of this policy is to support a working environment and venue culture in which sexual harassment is unacceptable. All people working in the venue are covered in this policy including contractors such as door staff and dance staff.

Should you experience or witness any behaviour that you feel amounts to sexual harassment either towards yourself, another member of staff or a customer we strongly encourage you to report it to a member of the management team as soon as you can.

What is sexual harassment?

Sexual harassment is a form of sex discrimination. It takes place when someone is subjected to unwelcome and unwanted sexual behaviour or other conduct related to their gender.

Harassment is defined by law in the Equality Act 2010 as 'unwanted conduct related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating an individual's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that individual'. In the case of sexual harassment, the relevant protected characteristic is 'sex'.

Behaviour that constitutes sexual harassment includes:

- Unwelcome behaviour of a sexual nature, this may be either physical or verbal,
- Inappropriate or suggestive remarks or verbal sexual advances,
- Indecent comments, jokes or innuendos relating to a person's looks or private life,
- Unwanted physical contact such as hugging, kissing or inappropriate touching,
- Requests for sexual favours,
- The display or circulation of pornography or indecent images.

Often, this kind of behaviour may be brushed off by the harasser as 'banter' or harmless flirting. It is important to remember that the impact the behaviour had is the most important factor, it is not so relevant whether the individual intended to cause offence, but rather that offence was caused by the conduct.

Witnessing and handling reports of sexual harassment of patrons

The Collingwood Collection considers it our responsibility to intervene when sexual harassment happens in our premises. If you witness or are alerted to sexual harassment taking place between patrons or between patrons and staff, you should alert the shift supervisor.

Interventions to challenge sexual harassment in our venue include:

- Watching/keeping an eye on the situation
- Speaking with target/victim of sexual harassment

- Speaking with perpetrator of sexual harassment
- Asking the perpetrator to leave the establishment
- Alerting door staff
- Calling the Police
- Two “safe spaces” across the venues so that customers are able to speak to a member of the management team in private.

Procedure for reporting sexual harassment between staff

We understand that reporting sexual harassment can be intimidating, so we aim to make the process as clear and straightforward as possible.

If you choose to report the incident by speaking to a member of management, it will only be treated as a formal complaint if you make it clear that this is the route you would like to take. We are happy to offer informal advice about the possible action and outcomes open to you and will not force you to take any action you do not feel comfortable with.

Where we believe a criminal offence has taken place, we will advise you to report the incident to the police. If we have serious concerns about your safety or the safety of others, The Collingwood Collection has a duty to contact the police, but we will do our best to let you know before doing so. If your complaint is subject to an ongoing police enquiry, we will not investigate until the police investigation has run its course.

If we receive more than one complaint of a serious criminal nature; or where we are concerned that an allegation may form part of an ongoing pattern of behaviour that could put other party members or members of the public at risk; we reserve the right to report this matter to the appropriate authorities, including law enforcement. If we do need to do this, we will let you know.

If, after speaking to us, you decide to make a formal complaint; the process will be as follows:

First, we will seek a written statement from you the complainant.

Once we have your statement, and the statements of any witnesses you are able to provide, the respondent will be informed of the details of the complaint made against them. As part of this process, each party will be encouraged to provide any relevant evidence and names of witnesses that support their statement. This process will establish the matters of fact from both sides.

The statements from the complainant, respondent and any witnesses will then be provided to the General Manager of The Collingwood Collection.

Confidentiality

Allegations raised regarding sexual harassment will be taken seriously and treated confidentially. The Collingwood Collection gives an assurance that there will be no victimisation against any worker making a complaint under this policy or against staff who assist a colleague in making a complaint.

We have exceptional CCTV coverage across the full venue that can be accessed for 28 days after. We can also save the footage and store in a secure folder only accessed by members of the management team so that the police can investigate it if necessary. As with all Shout Up! venues we have a zero tolerance to any kind of sexual harassment/assault, and we take this matter very seriously. Our ID scanning system allows us to ban those involved in all proven cases. We also use the same system as a lot of other bars/nightclubs in the city, so along with showing up as banned from The Collingwood Collection it will also show up in those other venues with why that individual(s) has been banned. We can also ask the police for the identification of the individual(s) at a later date if we are unable to get their id on the night. This process will be overseen by a senior member of the management team or the manager who spoke to the customer previously.

Sexual Entertainment Venue Licence Holders

On a weekend we have a burlesque performer, she has her own security however as a venue we also share the responsibility for her safety so we have two members of door staff who are stood either side of the stage. Any sexualised comments/customer attempting to touch her results in immediate dismissal.
